What is The INVICTA Project?

The INVICTA Project's innovative two-week residential program focuses on addressing Traumatic Brain Injury (TBI) symptoms prevalent among military veterans and first responders.

Founded upon the pillars of Neurology, Physiology, and Integrative Healthcare, individualized patient care plans are led by a distinguished team of healthcare experts including neurologists, chiropractic doctors specializing in Clinical Neuroscience and Sports and Human Performance, alongside a functional nurse practitioner, Doctor of Clinical Nutrition, and massage therapists.

Join us in May!

Our active duty and retired military veterans, along with our first responders, frequently face mental and physical hurdles both during and after their service to our nation and community. The INVICTA Project is a beacon of support dedicated to assisting these courageous individuals in regaining equilibrium in their minds, bodies, and overall health. This exceptional gathering is a pivotal opportunity to raise essential funds for delivering the neurological and physiological care these selfless heroes so rightfully deserve.
